

The Hairline One of the most important areas of a hair replacement is the hairline. It is an area that cannot be camouflaged and it is usually the area that people see first. The best way to appreciate the hairline of an EHK™ is to see it up close, inches from the scalp. This is a distance that most people never see your hairline from. However, even under this extreme scrutiny the EHK™ hairline looks completely natural. This effect is achieved by using the EHK™ special base material, the finest virgin European human hair, special hair blending techniques, and precise ventilation.

The Crown It is interesting to note that most people see your hair from the back and sides much more often than they do from the front. If you closely examine the crown area of someone with a full head of growing hair, you will likely see a natural swirl pattern that has a very subtle starting point. This effect in the EHK™ hair replacement is achieved through the use of Erwin's innovative ventilation plan and the masterful use of slightly variable density in that area. Designing for Hollywood has made Erwin acutely aware that the movie stars are seen from every angle in a film, especially the top and the back. The best way to appreciate the crown appearance of an EHK™ is to see it up close for yourself.
